

All roads lead to ... Rome?

In Winter 1935, Germany got this random event:

With a characteristic combination of admiration and envy, Italy rolls up its sleeves and in the very next turn, Spring 1936, achieves the Italian version of the German event:

